

Constantin Chirila

Front End Developer / Designer

📍 Solihull, United Kingdom

Profile

I am a design-oriented front-end developer, with extensive knowledge in design and UX. I love building beautiful and usable web applications through carefully crafted performant code and user-centric design. My unique skill-set enables me to bridge the gap between design and development. I am passionate about the web and the way it impacts our lives so I continuously learn by trying new web technologies and staying up to date.

Experience

Front End Developer at Phoebus Software LTD

May 2018 - Present

At Phoebus I am currently building the front-end of their web entry point for their flagship software which servers clients in the banking system, as well as helping building a form builder. I am using Javascript (ES7) and VueJS with Webpack. I am also helping them improving the UX of their online aps.

Front End Designer/Developer at www.pieceofpie.co

2009 - Present

As a freelancer I consult and building web products as well as marketing collateral for clients like: MentionMe (for clients like: Debenhams, Evans, Hush, Dorothy Perkins, Biscuiteers, Radley, Boomf, Bellstaff, JosephJoseph, OVO Energy, etc), University of Worcester, RazorSharp Productions, Ifootage Gear, etc.

Front End Developer and Lead Designer at iintegra and Workvine (Sister companies)

August 2015 - May 2018

At Workvine I was part of the founding team, I've built the website, branding, design, marketing collateral and developed/improved a series of its IP technologies. I provide leadership and guidance to their design and marketing teams.
At iintegra I implemented, rebuilt and maintained the Applicant Tracking System's (ATS) front-end, using modern Javascript (ES7), jQuery and Webpack. I have researched and created several test branches to explore the possibility of adopting React. As a secondary role, I also lead the design direction and user experience for the ATS.

Web and Graphic Designer at Flex Plus Recruitment (iintegra project)

June 2014 - August 2015

I was a multidisciplinary designer responsible for the design, UI/UX and front end development of the websites and web applications including their Applicant Tracking System called iintegra. I was awarded 'Flexpert of the Year' in 2015 for the great impact I had on the business.
